GRAND JURY TO MEET NEXT WEEKCalled by Judge Sparks Today and Will Likely Investigate the Perry Shooting

ALSO HOMER KELLAM'S DEATH

Case Involving Campbell Estate
May go to Jury Monday—
Paving Cases Settled

Judge Sparks, at the request of Albert Stevens, prosecuting attorney, has ordered the grand jury to report next Wednesday. This will be the first meeting of the grand jury during the present term of court. Several rather important matters will be investigated by the grand jury.

One of the cases to be investigated is the shooting of George Perry by George W. Clingman. Clingman shot and killed Perry when he is alleged to have mistaken a party of fishermen for robbers. Clingman is now on bond on a murder charge, but the grand jury will investigate the merits of the case.

Another case that will likely be given consideration is that involving the death of Homer Kellam. Kellam was found dead in the barn at his home near Raleigh and death was believed to have been caused by being kicked by a horse. Some of Kellam's relatives are not satisfied with this and have asked the prosecutor to investigate.

Evidence in the Campbell-Carroll case was completed shortly before noon today and court adjourned until Monday morning at which time the closing arguments will start. The court did not like to start the arguments this afternoon as the case could not possibly go to the jury before five-thirty o'clock and he did not like to keep the jury out tonight.

The defense completed its side of the case this morning and after a short rebuttal all of the evidence was before the jury. The Campbell side of the case introduced several of the brothers of the late Ovid Campbell, whose estate is involved in the case.

The litigation growing out of the paving of West Second street last year by the city council ended this morning when Judge Sparks overruled a motion for a new trial in the case against Hyman Schatz and found for the plaintiffs, Estes V. Bergen and Edward E. Jeffrey, and the other suits were dismissed and the costs paid.

Several of the property owners in the street refused to pay the assessments and the Bergen company filed suit to collect the assessments. The case against Schatz was tried and it was generally understood that on the outcome of this case depended what would be done with the others. Judge Sparks found for the plaintiff against Schatz in the sum of $102.83 when the case was tried and then this morning overruled the motion for a new trial.

It is understood that the reason the other suits were dismissed is because the property owners paid the amounts of the assessments. The suits remaining on the docket, that were dismissed this morning were against William E., and Clara Wallace, Clarissa Goddard, Athalia Lewark and William Lewark and George Muire and Ella Muire.

BATTERY B. MUSTERED OUT

The local members of Battery B., have arrived home having been mustered out at Fort Benjamin Harrison Thursday. All of the boys are in good health. Those from here who were on the border were Allan H. Blackledge, Fred Beale, Hale Pearson, Walter Gartin and Frank Owens.

TAKES UP DEED TO TRACT

National Serum Co., Pays Balance
on Site For New Building

The National Serum company yesterday took up the deed for seventy acres of land just south of Jersey City and are preparing to begin work on their new building immediately. Morris Winship of this city has the contract. They paid J. D. Case and Joe Cowing $200 an acre for the land. They have had an option on the tract for several months and had made an advance payment of $5,000 on the $14,000 to show their good faith. The new company is expected to be a big improvement to Rushville.

MERCURY DROPS
BELOW FREEZINGHeavy Freeze is Reported From all Parts of County but Little Damage is Done

ICE FOUND HALF INCH THICK

In addition to a heavy frost last night, there was a heavy freeze. It was the coldest night of the fall season by three degrees over the best previous mark. The government thermometer at Mauzy registered 27 degrees. Many people noticed ice early this morning and with a temperature of 27 at an early hour there was little doubt as to the approach of winter.

The freeze is reported to have done little damage. The corn is far enough along to have been out of danger. Some late gardens were damaged, but as these are few the loss will not be great. The ice at some places was reported to be at least a half-inch thick.

LITTLE BALDWIN
BOY IS LOCATEDIs Kept in Rushville Home Thursday Night and Found at Livery Stable Today

ATTENTION CALLED TO CASE

William Baldwin, the 10 years old boy who disappeared from home Thursday night, was found this morning at a local livery stable. The boy has been wandering about the city. Last night he appeared at the home of James E. Watson in North Main street. Mrs. Watson recalled that he was wanted and called the police, but the boy ran from the house when he heard her calling over the phone.

On Thursday night the boy was found about midnight by Jess Pugh and taken to his house where he spent the night. The case of the Baldwin boy is rather pathetic. He is a feeble-minded youth and is not permitted to attend school. The attention of the case has been called to the officers and some disposition will likely be made soon.

MILK THIEVES ACTIVE

Residents of North Harrison street, especially those between Fourth and Fifth streets have been having considerable trouble lately with some boys who steal milk from the front verandas. At least one of the boys is known and if the practice is not stopped the people promise some arrests. Last night every bottle of milk delivered on one side of this street for a distance of half square was taken.

A marriage license was issued this morning to William E. Ray and Letha D. Wälder.

THE CENTENNIALCommittees are Gradually Bringing Their Plans to a Focus in Preparation for Event

ODD FELLOWS IN THE PARADE

Program Committee Invites Several Distinguished Former Residents to be Here Oct. 12

Preparations for the Centennial, Fall Festival and Home Coming here which opens a week from next Tuesday, are gradually being brought to a focus and the executive committee is drawing in the lines to see if each committee has attended to the duties that it had to look after.

Early next week the decorative arches will give silent welcome to every person who enters Rushville's gates and will urge them to come back the week of the ninth to enjoy the festivities.

The program committee is making an effort to get some former Rush county citizens, who have made a success away from here, back to Rushville for Home Coming day, which will be celebrated Thursday, October 12. So far definite reply has been received from only one—George Gifford, an attorney from Tipton.

A letter has been written to Granville Cowing, the venerable old man of Muncie who was associated with the early activities of Rushville, but it is feared that he may not be able to come on account of his extreme age. He is an uncle of Joe Cowing of this city and has visited here a few times in late years. Mr. Cowing purchased The Whig, together with Noryell W. Cox, in 1846 and changed the name to The True Republican. That newspaper in 1854 became The Republican.

The program committee has just learned that the Rev. William Arnold, is a native of Walker township and has written to Bluffton, Ind., where he is the pastor of the M. E. church, inviting him to be present on Home Coming day. He was a son of the late James Arnold, a pioneer teacher in Walker township.

The committee is endeavoring to have F. M. Springer of Indianapolis pay his old home a visit on that day. Mr. Springer was born and reared in Orange township. He was at one time surveyor of Rush county, but in later years was graduated from Michigan University and has become a prosperous lawyer. F. M. Wiltse, former prosecutor of Marion county, who is a native of Rush county, has also been invited.

If all the lodges do as well as the Odd Fellows plan to do, the fraternal orders of the city will be well represented in the Centennial parade Friday, Oct. 13. The Rebekahs and the subordinate lodge will each have a float and the crack degree of Franklin lodge, in full dress, together with the Odd Fellows band, will appear in the parade. The Odd Fellows will erect a rest room thirty feet long near the entrance to their lodge rooms in Second street and after the parade the band will give a concert there.

The concessions committee has the best array of free attractions that was ever offered at any fall event here, it is believed. The committee has just booked Alexander Brothers and company, an organization of four people who do two different acts. The four engage in a tight wire act, riding bicycles and doing other stunts. Two members of the company have a comedy program that is exceptionally good. Besides that the committee has already engaged a knock-down house comedy act and the one which will appear with the Ziedman and Polle combined shows that will be here for the week.

REGISTRATION IS TIMELY TOPICPolitical Managers are Urging Upon Voters Necessity of Seeing if They are Registered

TO WIN OR LOSE ELECTION

Only the Man Who Registered and Voted in 1914 and Hasn't Moved Can Vote This Time

As the day for the registration of voters draws near there is a fear among party organization managers that many voters in Indiana will neglect to see to it that they are properly registered and thus lose their right to vote at the November election.

Unless a voter is properly registered he cannot vote at the election. This is the principal point that every voter should keep in mind. Therefore, it is the duty of every voter to look out for his registration.

If a voter registered in 1914 and if he voted at the 1914 election, he is not required to register again this year, provided he still lives in the same precinct in which he lived and voted in 1914.

But if a voter who has registered in 1914 and voted in 1914 has since moved to another precinct he must register this year in his new precinct or he cannot vote at the November election.

October 9th is the registration day this year, and any voter who is not properly registered after that date will be barred from voting at the election. The only way a voter can protect himself and insure his right to vote will be to see that he is registered.

There will be a registration board in each precinct of the state on October 9th, so that there will be no excuse for any voter who fails to look after his registration. In a majority of the precincts in the state there will be only a partial registration on that day, while in others there will be a full and complete registration of all voters of the precinct. Any voter who does not understand whether he must register should investigate at once and ascertain where he stands. He can get the information from the precinct committeeman of his party or from the county committee, or at the County Auditor's office.

OLD-FASHIONED BARBECUE

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 30.—Col. Roosevelt came to Battle Creek today to inject some ginger into the presidential campaign. He said so himself. He is to speak late this afternoon at an old-fashioned barbecue under the auspices of the five surrounding counties.

When the train pulled into Battle Creek an hour late, it looked like a good part of the people of the five counties were on hand to give the ex-president an old-time welcome. There were fully 30,000 at the depot and 30,000 more along the route of the parade that was held.

Brooklyn, Sept. 30.—Philadelphia jumped into first place in the race for the National League pennant when they beat Brooklyn 7 to 2 in the morning game today.

Twenty-five automobiles will be needed to take the crowd and seventeen have been promised. The crack degree team will parade in degree uniforms on Rushville streets, headed by the band, before leaving for Knights-town. They will also make a parade in Knights-town. The team from here will give the third degree.

Delaware, O., Sept. 30.—Governor Frank B. Willis, his wife and daughter were injured here early this morning in an auto accident. While none of their injuries will prove fatal, physicians said, Mrs. Willis and Helen Willis, age eighteen are seriously hurt.

The governor, his wife and daughter were thrown out of a taxicab when it crashed into a street car and a truck. Governor Willis suffered a cut in the side and a sprained wrist which doctors say may be fractured.

HUGHES FINISHES
20,000-MILE TRIPRepublican Nominee Establishes a Record for Presidential Candidates in Campaign

FATIGUE SHOWS IN HIS FACE

(By United Press.)

Hornell, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Republican Nominee Hughes today finished his 20,000th mile as a twentieth century campaigner today. This is said to establish a record for presidential candidates.

It was estimated today that Hughes has talked to 1,500,000 voters since he started seeking votes August 5.

After such a record breaking campaign, not yet concluded, it was no wonder today that the Republican nominee showed fatigue in every line of his face. His eyes were ringed with dark circles and his voice was almost cracked under the strain.

Bloomington Farmer Worth $300,-
000 Commits Suicide Today

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 30.—Worry because his crops were not harvested caused Reddick A. Wylie, reputed to be the wealthiest farmer of Monroe county, to kill himself by shooting today. Wylie is said to be worth about $300,000. He was the grandson of Andrew Wylie, Indiana University's first president. In a recent Centennial pageant at Indiana University he took the part of his grandfather.

Gladys, the two-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Gardner of Walker township, is critically ill.

polis, is Dead and Prother and

FATHER IS ALSO STRICKEN

Family Visited Forefather's Cabin in This County July 4 and all but Mother are Afflicted

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—A happy family party July Fourth, when John S. McCullough, 2912 Boulevard place, with his wife his three little daughters, his young son and a chauffeur drove to Milroy, Ind., for a visit to the ancient log cabin that was the birthplace of Mr. McCullough's great-great-grandfather, has had a tragic sequel that may not yet be finished.

Virginia McCullough, 8 years old, is dead of typhoid fever. At St. Vincent's Hospital, where the little girl breathed her last yesterday morning, after weeks of suffering is the father, in the grip of the same disease. At the McCullough home on Boulevard Place—the home where a wreath of white roses on the door tells the story of a child's passing—lie three other children, Constance Mary, 4 years old; Dorothy, 12 years old, and John Clemens McCullough, 15 years old, all stricken with typhoid fever. Of the entire family, Mrs. McCullough, who spends her time hastening from the bedside of her husband at the hospital to those of her three children at her home, is the only one who is not ill.

The McCullough cabin, where Jacob S. McCullough was born nearly a century ago, is one of the quaint relics of the town of Milroy. It is a log cabin of ancient design, back of which is a rock-walled well as ancient as the cabin itself, and fitted with an old wooden pump. This was the destination of the McCullough family on that July Fourth outing. When they arrived there after the long drive, they were thirsty and drank deep of the water from the well—all but Mrs. McCullough and the chauffeur. The water seemed bright and sparkling, but death in the form of typhoid lurked in its depths.

Shortly after their return to Indianapolis Mr. McCullough and the children were taken ill. Little Virginia made a gallant fight for life and every possible effort was made to save her. Seven ounces of blood from her uncle, Andrew McCullough, was tried along with artificial feeding. Before her death the child had suffered almost complete paralysis and when pneumonia set in it was necessary to insert a tube into her left lung. The shock was too much for the little girl and her death followed. Sisters of St. Vincent's Hospital have a record of beautiful prayers the child said after she was taken there, when she would pray ardently for the recovery of her father, sisters and brothers.

Pending the outcome of the illness of Mr. McCullough, who is manager of the National Casket Company, the body of the little girl will be placed in a vault in Crown Hill Cemetery.

No one could be found today who knows of an old log cabin in or near Milroy. Allen R. Holden, county auditor, believes that John S. McCullough is the same Mr. McCullough he used to know and at one time lived in Noble township. Mr. Holden says there is an old log cabin on the McCullough farm in Noble township. A. M. Taylor, clerk of the court, who lived in Milroy a number of years, says he knows of no ancient log cabin in the vicinity of Milroy.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water
Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?"
you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

The last is a comedy "The Browns See the Fair." Betty Compsion and Neal Burns are featured. Monday, matinee and night the five act drama "The Grip of Jealousy" will be shown.

The Princess offers Charles Chaplin in his latest comedy "One A. M." for the first picture tonight. It is said to be a laugh from start to finish. The other picture is a drama entitled "The Chain Invisible." Bruce McRea and Gerda Holmes are featured. "Sudden Riches" in which Robert Warwick, Grace George and Gerda Holmes are featured is the attraction Monday. It deals with the efforts of a young man and his wife to wade through a large inheritance left them by their uncle, out of spite because the young man's father had outlived him when the two were courting the same girl. His plan was to ruin the family by giving them too much money. It is an interesting story.

TEMPORARY LOANS.

From Sept. 8, 1913, to June 30, 1915, the state of Indiana under a Democratic administration borrowed the sum of $2,145,000 which was used to meet the current expenses of state government. During this period there was paid out in interest on borrowed money, $35,539.46. A striking example of Democratic mismanagement!

GOODRICH JOLTS OPPOSITION

(New Castle Courier) The way James P. Goodrich, Republican candidate for governor of Indiana, is going after and exposing the waste and extravagance in the management of the state's affairs by the last two Democratic administrations, is a caution and something good for the sore eyes of the hard-run taxpayer. The Democratic candidate opposing Mr. Goodrich is a fellow by the name of Adair, from Portland, who has been out of touch with Indiana affairs for over ten years, by reason of his being at Washington rattling around in a congressional seat that should have been filled by a Republican. He sought to answer Goodrich, but he fell down so hard that the shock gave him a headache that will last until after the election. Then the Democratic state committee "sicked" Attorney-General Stotsenburg onto Goodrich, and he isn't doing any better than Adair did. The trouble is, Goodrich has the goods on them and they can't get from under.

Hughes and Wilson on Labor.

While Mr. Wilson, as president of Princeton University, was currying favor with Wall Street by denouncing labor leaders and labor unions as "formidable enemies," Governor Hughes at Albany was winning well-deserved ecumiums from organized labor in appreciation of his service to the cause of labor. During those days when Mr. Wilson was lamenting the use of labor organizations, Governor Hughes was encouraging their growth and commending their constructive work. Eight years ago at the dedication of the tuberculosis pavilion, erected by the Central Federation of Labor at Albany, Governor Hughes said: "My friends there are some who regard organized labor as a source of strife and means of difficulty. I regard it as a fine opportunity for the amelioration of the condition of men working with this other purpose than to make the most of themselves and to achieve something for their families. I regard it as a fine opportunity for the realization of the highest benefits for these that every patriotic citizen feels most solicitous about to see that everything should be done for their continued progress. Under wise leadership with statesman-like guidance, with a firm intuition to promote the benefits of the community and to secure honorable progress, the mission of labor organizations is one of the finest that any association of men could guard."

The record shows that Mr. Hughes served the cause of labor and spoke in favor of its organization while he was Governor of New York. What he said eight years ago on that subject he is saying today. He proved his friendship for labor as Governor, and he will prove it again as President. The difference between Mr. Hughes and Mr. Wilson in respect of labor is easily discerned and defined—"Hughes means what he says."

A NECESSITY

Mrs. Collier Says Could Not Keep House Without Black-Draught.

Hardin, Mo.—Mrs. J. W. Collier, of this town, who knows from experience of the merit of Black-Draught Liver Medicine, has following to say for publication: "I want to let everybody know that I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for many years, and it is just what is claimed for it. I am never without Black-Draught, and really I couldn't keep house without it. Whenever I feel bad, I take a small dose, and feel better right away."

I advise everybody who suffers from liver or stomach trouble to use Black-Draught Liver Medicine."

For three-quarters of a century (75 years), Thedford's Black-Draught has been regulating irregularities of the liver, stomach and bowels, and has long been recognized as the standard remedy. It is a fixture in thousands of homes as the main stay of the family medicine chest.

If you have not tried it, get a package from your nearest dealer, today. He sells it in 25c and $1.00 packages, making it cost you only one cent a dose.

DECLINED TO PERMIT A SQUADRON TO DEFEND AMERICANS.

At Tampico there was a general movement of attack by the Mexicans on Americans and other foreigners. We had a squadron of American warships in the neighborhood. The Wilson Administration declined to permit this squadron to be used to defend the lives of American men and the honor of American women, and the commanders of the German and English ships at Tampico had to step in and perform the task our representative had so basely abandoned. At the very time that the Mexican mob had surrounded the building in which the Americans had taken refuge and was howling for their blood, the American fleet, in spite of the protests of the American naval commander, and in accordance with wireless orders from Washington, was forced to steam out of the harbor and leave the Americans to be massacred by the Mexicans or rescued by the Germans and English.—From the Speech of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in Behalf of Charles E.
Hughes.

POLITICAL JOTTINGS

If plans "to get Villa" are abandoned Villa should reciprocate and refrain from organizing expeditions "to get"
American citizens.

The fact that Mr. Wilson could endorse this Pork Congress shows that he isn't seasick, anyway.

Mr. Pinchot also seems of the opinion that God Hates a Quitter.

The man who quotes the Baltimore platform is regarded as a political archeologist.

"He kept the country out of war,"
but he robbed it of its peace.

Up in Maine they are now rhyming Hughes with Moose. And there is reason as well as rhyme connecting the two words.

"Victory," Mr. Fairbanks told Oklahoma Republicans, "surely will perch on our banner." But Champ Clark tied it up in a neater and more compact bundle when he said: "They licked hell out of us."

Members of President Wilson's cabinet are ready to do anything to re-elect their chief, except resign.

Writes a former Princeton man: "At first we called him 'W. W.'; then we made it 'I. W. W.'"

That one term plank in the Democratic platform of 1912—it is more than likely to hold, after all.

When President Wilson called upon the Mexican commissioners, at New London he revived old precedents, but did he wave the Stars and Stripes?

A man in Washington has made a bust of the President, thus anticipating Mr. Hughes by several weeks.

Discussing the indorsement by the Democratic convention of Texas of Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy, the Houston Post (Dem.) flatly declares:
"It is not believed anything like a majority of the people of Texas indorse our Mexican policy, and those in a position to know seriously doubt that the platform adopted expressed the real sentiments of the convention itself."

The Omaha Bee couples woeful waste with watchful waiting as a Democratic failing.

Boiled down, the best that has been said of President Wilson's Mexican policy was that he had good intentions. We've often heard of a road paved with this kind of material.

The President is deceived if he believes that the history he has written is not more praiseworthy than that which he has made.

President Wilson signed the Philippine bill as moving picture cameras clicked. There is one man who is not afraid to have his mistakes recorded!

WILSON CONSISTENT ONLY IN HIS VACILLATION.

As it is with "war," so it is with "intervention." President Wilson has again and again said he would not "intervene" in Mexico. As a matter of fact he has intervened continuously
* * * but as he never followed any policy of either intervention or non-intervention with any resolution—always yielding at the critical moment to some bandit chief of whom he became fearful—both his spasms of intervention and his spasms of non-intervention have alike been entirely futile.—From the Speech of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

FINNEGAN'S PHILOSOPHY.

On The Merry-Go-Round.

"Faith an' now Wilson's for protection. Four year ago he was agin it, for it was agin the constychoosun.
Now that he is for it, that immortal instrument has also changed its mind. He makes me head shwin."

"But I've good company. Bryan an Garrison, the civil service Dimycrats, and the rale Dimycrats, the Passylists an' the vulgar sowis that's none 'Too Proud to Fight'—they've all been on the Merry-go-round. Some iv thim turned sick."

"God bless ye—ye're a good man, but ye make me dizzy," says Bryan, leppin' from the Hobby-Horse and runnin' for the woods. 'I've a ginywine raygrit at losin' ye,' says Wudthrow throwin' him a Cocked-Hat iv the vintage of 1909.

"Here's the Army bill," says Garrison. 'How does it suit?' he axes.

"Fine," says Wudthrow, 'barrin' a few changes. 'Ye'll redraw it,' he says, 'to provide,' says he, 'voluntary universal service in a Federal Mil-litshy,' says he, 'controlled be the states,' says he; 'an recruited be spiritual compulsion,' says he. 'It shud be nayther too large nor too small,' says he; 'or maybe both,' he says; 'an the ammyntion,' says he 'must be nayther too much, nor too little,' says he. 'I've to see Hay, before I decide the daytales, for 'tis me jooty to kape an open mind,' says Wudthrow.

"Stop the music and lave me off," says Garrison. 'Are ye crazy or am I?' Garrison moans, layin' on his back an gazin' wildly at th' sky. 'God bless ye,' says Wudthrow. 'I've a near-real raygrit at losin' you,' he says. And as Garrison beats it to Jarsey the Merry-go-Round plays a side step.

"F'what iv the Navy," says Kitchin.
'It shud be thurly adadequate ivry-where,' says the Great Idylst, 'except in Montany, where we need no Navy,' says he. 'and in St. Louey, where it shud be the biggest in the world. We'll be none extravagant like thim Raypublicans,' says he, 'so here's the Dimycrat bill ye'll pass,' says he.

"But this same is the Raypublican's bill," says Kitchin sturin'. 'Ye'll go an' pass it,' says Wudthrow, pounding the desk. 'Hooray,' says the black Raypublicans votin' for the bill. 'Do I dream,' says Kitchin. 'If I iver drank, I'd t'ink I was boozed,' says Kitchin in a thremblin' vice. And he falls off.

"How about the Army bill," axes Hay.

"Through an' instant preparation for defense must be the wurd," says Wudthrow, wid heroic ris'tution in his eye.

"I have here a bill," says Hay, 'pro-vidin' for an increase iv five hundther men a year for twinty year,' he says;
'an' amynishun for six hours' aksun,' he says; 'twill make us 'safe from maddygasker, measles, muckrakin', milit-rism and marital infidelity,' he says, 'an' we'll catch Villy before he dies av he doant die before we catch him,' says Hay.

"Embrace me," says Wilson. 'Oh Hay—afther all preparedness is a matter iv the heart an' not of guns or forts. Did Cleveland ivir give ye a job? he axes, stoppin' short like.

"Divil a wan," says Hay. 'Thin' says Wudthrow shakin' the both iv Hay's hands cordial like, 'for yer patriotic service in so bravely supportin' me policies,' he says, 'in all their phrases,' he says; 'I make a judge iv ye,' he says, 'as well as yer frind that ye put in the Joker,' says the President. 'Howly Saints,' says the preparation Sniters.

"Ph-what does this mean at all at all?' they axes. 'I've the wan thrack mind,' says the President, 'an' ye go all through me train iv thought before ye come to the pork car,' says he.
'Are ye on?' axes the Apostle iv Common Counsels.

"We're on," says the Sniters, falling off. An' the Merry-go-round plays a Wilson Waltz (which ye know, Jawn, is wan step forward, two steps back, hesitate and sidestep). An' Tumulty goes out to spread the glad tidin's that the preparation p'rade will be led by the President in person.

"How does he save his face?" asked Malumphy.

"Wild his mouth," responded Finne-gan dryly.

ONE YEAR AGO THE 3400 r.p.m. CHALMERS CAME INTO BEING; NOW 50,000,000 HAPPY MILES LIE BEHIND IT

Just one year ago the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers was born.

September 30th is its Anniversary Day.

It was untried, unknown, looked a little strange because it was different, and nobody outside of four men knew what it could do.

These four men—the men who had dreamed the car—had little to say.

“What will it do?” they were asked.

“Get in and try,” they replied.

And in three days’ time every last Chalmers executive had experienced a thrill that was new behind the wheel.

They banged it around in city traffic, abused it on hills, ran it through broken fields, made it take hurdles they would never ask their own personal cars to take.

They were amazed and then they sat down and decided to build three times as many of these cars as they had ever built of any model in a single year before—$22,000,000 worth.

Then behold the situation. Six months later these 18,000 cars were all built. Then 10,000 more were ordered.

And a few days ago we got word that 20,000 more are being built—48,000 of these 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers.

48,000 in all—a $56,000,000 business in a single model!

So you see why we are proud to have a birthday party for the car.

Any car that has 50,000,000 happy miles of use behind it certainly has an interesting history and its birthday anniversary is an event.

Remember this is only its first birthday. So successful has the car proven that the Chalmers Company is continuing to build it right through into next year. So you’re safe in getting a car now that won’t be obsolete in the spring.

Consider the price, $1090 Detroit.

Come in today. Attend the birthday party.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Sept. 30.—Thirty-two of the most daring drivers in the automobile racing game, driving the fastest racing cars on the American continent, were to face the starter this afternoon in the Sheephead Bay Speedway classic of the year, the 250 mile Astor Cup race.

The men and cars will race for $25,000 to go to the first ten to finish. The prizes are: first $10,000; second $5,000; third, $2,500; fourth, $1,600; fifth $1,300; sixth, $1,200; seventh, $1,000; eighth, $900; ninth, $800 and tenth $700.

The men who will face the starter qualified by hurtling around the Sheephead bowl at not less than ninety miles an hour. Most of the trials were held Thursday.

The track is in perfect shape. Workmen have been over every square inch of it smoothing down the slightest irregularities. Speed bugs are looking forward to a smashing of records.

Interest in the drivers centers on Dario Resta, speed king for the year to date, Ralph De Palma, Johnny Aitken, Eddie Rickenbacker and Eddie Pullen. It will be the crowning event of the season and to the winner will go the title “The Speed King.”

AT THE MAUZY HOME

Another beautiful party was given at the Mauzy home in North Harrison street last evening, when honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. Louis Mauzy, a reception was tendered by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy and Mrs. Mary Dixon. The same dainty color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the decorations last evening. The mantles were banked with ferns and begonias and tall vases and baskets of pink rose buds graced each of the rooms. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy, Mrs. Mary Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. George Dehority of Elwood. The bride looked lovely in a peach-colored silk gown, with a full over-swirl, beneath it being a gold lace drop, and the upper part of the dress fashioned from maline. She wore pink roses.

The guests, numbering over a hundred, were seated in the four spacious rooms, to hear the delightful program given by Miss Cecil Hill, Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Nelson of Indianapolis. Miss Hill's selections were excellent as she sang with her clear soprano voice. Too, she gave a very clever reading. Mr. Hawkins played a number of beautiful violin selections and Mr. Nelson, the accompanist, played several well chosen piano solos. Following this program, Jess Pugh and Floyd Chaffee of Indianapolis, who was also a guest and who is to travel with Mr. Pugh this winter, gave several very clever "stunts." Mr. Chaffee sang, Mr. Pugh read and for "The Moving Picture Show" and the parody on "A Little Bit of Heaven," they were encored again and again.

The refreshments carried out in the ices and confections the predominating color scheme.

Among the guests who enjoyed the hospitality of the hosts and hostesses extended through this beautiful party were Mrs. Christina Mauzy, Mrs. St. Clair Parry, Mrs. H. T. Parry of Indianapolis, Miss Louise Craig, Mr. and Mrs. George Dehority of Elwood, Floyd Chaffee and Ward Hackleman of Indianapolis, Mrs. George Becker and Miss Frances Fryar of Richmond.

Preceding the reception, an elaborate dinner party was given. The fifty guests were seated at small tables. The dining table where Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mauzy were seated, was beneath streamers of white tulle draped to the four corners of the table and embellished with a basket of pink rose buds. Hand-painted place cards, bearing the heads of girls, marked the places for the guests. A two-course dinner, carrying out the same color scheme, was served.

STATE PAGEANT OPENS MONDAY

Stage is Set For the Most Spectacular Event in History of Indiana

GREAT ATTENTION TO DETAIL

Stage Effects and Scenic Equipment Particularly Realistic—Primitive Implements

Indianapolis, Sept. 30.—The stage is set, the great cast of 3,000 performers is ready for entrance and exit in the greatest spectacular event in the history of Indiana—the centennial pageant to open at Riverside park at 4 o'clock next Monday afternoon, Oct. 2.

As the hour of opening draws close, the magnitude of the great historical-drama looms larger and larger to those who have been working night and day to make it a feature of the centenary celebration in which every Hoosier may feel proud. All this week rehearsals of the big cast have crowded each day and night to overflowing.

The large grand-stand, to seat about 7,000 people, lacks only the finishing touches to make it complete. The sale of tickets which has been on all week at the office of the Merchants Heat and Light Company indicates that not only Indianapolis but practically every locality in Indiana has an absorbing interest in the spectacle. Mail orders are received daily from all parts of the state. William Chauncey Langdon, pageant-director, pronounces the preparations for the production the most complete he has ever known.

Mrs. Marion Langdon, director of costumes, is working her force of dress-makers to the point of distraction in order that each garment worn in the pageant may correspond in every detail to the period it is to represent. From the days of Robert Cavalier de LaSalle down to the last episode in the pageant, not one detail of the personality of those distinguished characters that come and go in the dramatic-picture is to be overlooked. The Pageant will show the Indian of today precisely what his earliest ancestors were, how they dressed, how they looked and what they did.

In this great out-door drama the scenic effects and stage equipment are to be particularly realistic. Harry Porter, assistant pageant-master, has drawn on the state for its choicest treasures of pioneer relics and primitive implements. Probably few metropolitan productions have been staged with more attention to detail.

The pageant will open promptly each afternoon of next week Oct. 2-7, at 4 o'clock. For two hours and a half each day the spectator may revel in the deeds and words of the men and women who laid the foundations and built a great Hoosier state. The pageant committee is planning a parking place for automobiles so that those who motor to the city may leave their cars in safe custody.

TWO DIE IN RAIL WRECK

Pennsylvania Train is Derailed at King's Mill, O., Today

(By United Press.)

Cincinnati, Sept. 30.—Two persons were killed and eight were injured today when a Pennsylvania train enroute to Cincinnati from New York was derailed at King's Mill, O.

The train which consisted of two engines and ten passenger cars, was on its way to Cincinnati when a side-rod on one engine broke. Both engines and five cars were thrown from the track. About 1,500 feet of track was torn up.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 30.—Cooper Props, automobile dealer and former newspaperman, former farmer, and former real estate dealer, ordered that the roof on a new garage be made flat to be used as a landing place for aeroplanes, when automobiles are merely a memory.

WAYNE NEEDS MORE ATTENTION

This Conclusion "Brother" George Gray Has Reached, According to Richmond Authorities

WHAT STRAW VOTE REVEALS

Free Seeds Fail to Placate Several Hundred Voters who Opposed "Pork Barrel" Legislation

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 30.—"Brother" George Gray has decided that "Brother" Finly Gray must devote much time and attention to Wayne county if he entertains any hope of retaining the $7,500 a year job he now holds in the capacity of representing the sixth Indiana district in the national house of representatives.

In the first place "Brother" George is considerably perturbed as to the action about 5,000 Wayne county voters, formerly affiliated with the Progressive party, will pursue on November 7. He realizes that these 5,000 citizens will just about decide whether "Brother Fin" retains or loses his $7,500 job. Results of straw ballots recently taken in Richmond by a Cincinnati newspaper have convinced the members of the Democratic office-holding firm of Gray & Gray, Connorsville, Ind., that a lot of business will have to be transacted by them in Wayne county during the next six weeks. "Brother" Finly's government seed distribution policy has proved most disappointingly ineffective.

It seems that these seeds have failed to placate several hundred Wayne county voters who are still demanding of Finly what authority he had to champion enthusiastically the "pork barrel" and anti-civil service measures while attempting to knife all the "preparedness" bills.

It is also a fact that Rep. Gray's various explanations of his meddling with the rural mail delivery service in Wayne county, last winter, never made much of an impression on the farmers. Another condition existing in Wayne county which is a source of worry to the Gray brothers is the lack of interest John M. Lontz of Richmond and his many Democratic friends are showing in the Democratic campaign—especially financial interest. Associates of Mr. Lontz are still bitter over the knifing he received in the primary campaign last March. Hitherto Mr. Lontz has always been the biggest contributor in the sixth district to the Democratic campaign fund.

MURDER IS CHARGED

Mountain View, N. H., Sept. 30.—A charge of first degree murder was placed against Frederick L. Small today. The body of Small's wife was found in the ruins of their home after it had been burned. Small is the beneficiary under a $20,000 life insurance policy taken out by himself and his wife recently.

London, Sept. 30.—British troops improved their positions north of Thiepval and beat off German counter attacks last night, General Haig reported this afternoon.

PAGEANT-DRAMA OF HOOSIER HISTORY

Wonderful Statehood Spectacle to Be Given by 3,000 People.

A great centennial pageant to be staged at Riverside, one of the finest of the Hoosier capital's chain of parks, in which 3,000 men, women and children will be cast in a dramatic picture showing the progress and development of Indiana for one hundred years, will be one of the outstanding features of the centenary jubilee at Indianapolis Oct. 2-15.

The pageant, which is to tell a thrilling story of the early sufferings and hardships and later triumphs of the men and women who have made a great state, will be given each afternoon of the first week of the celebration, beginning Oct. 2, at 4 p. m. each day, the spectacle drifting into the early twilight so that the spectators may enjoy some remarkably unique electric effects and illuminated tableaux.

The pageant as written by William Chauncey Langdon, New York pageant

dramatist, will not only be educational in its historical character, but will visualize the future possibilities of the state. There are to be ten episodes and five symbolic scenes dealing with the state's development from the first exploration of La Salle, the French trader, down to the present time.

All of these great events are to be depicted on a vast open-air stage by men and women faithfully costumed for the particular period in which they enter. The great Hoosier drama promises to present scene after scene calculated to thrill the blood of every loyal Indian.

Riverside park was selected because it is easily reached from the city and besides its picturesque situation offered admirable opportunity for outdoor drama. A grandstand will accommodate nearly 10,000 people. From the grandstand the spectator will have a fine sweep of the grassy stage with White river, skirted by woodland and the old canal beyond.

In the presentation of this great picture of Hoosier life people from all over the state have responded to the call for pioneer relics to aid in bringing realism into the pageant.

The hours for the pageant performances have been arranged so that visitors to the city may attend the spectacle and also other events of the centennial celebration.

HE WANTED A BATH

And, Curiously Enough, That Fact Won Him a Lot of Fame.

QUEER TALE OF A LONDON INN

The Commotion a Traveler Fresh From Australia Kicked Up in the Blue Boar Tavern by a Simple Request That Made Him an Object of Wonder.

I cherish the thought, says the author of the autobiography entitled "The Record of Nicholas Freydon," that I have become something of a tradition at the Blue Boar Inn, in London, where I have reason to think I am remembered today by a now aged Boots and others—many, many others—as "the genelman as ordered a bawth."

I happened on the Blue Boar, a new arrival from Australia, and stayed there for two nights. On rising after my first sleepless night I went prowling all about the house in search of the bathroom. Finally I was routed back to my room by a newly awakened maid (in curl pins), who told me rather crossly that I could not have a "bawth" unless I ordered it "before-and." I was in a hurry to get outdoors, so I did without my bath and promised myself I would see to it later in the day.

That afternoon, footsore, tired and feeling inexplicably grimy, I interviewed the lady again and begged permission to have a bath. She was then in much brighter humor and in curls in place of pins. She promised to arrange the matter shortly and to send some one to warn me when the moment had arrived. Where could I be found?

"Oh, I'll go and undress at once," I said.

"No, don't do that, sir; I can't get a bawth all in a minute," she told me. "Perhaps you'd like to write in the smokin' room."

I agreed at once and retired to the flyblown smoking room, where there was an ample choice of distraction for a writing man between a moth-eaten volume entitled "King's Concordance" and a Southeastern railway time table cover, very solidly fastened, but with nothing inside. Presently Boots came in, elderly and sad, but furtively bird-like both in the way he held his head on one side and in the jerky quickness of his movements.

"You the genelman as ordud er bawth?" he asked anxiously. I admitted it, and he gave a long sigh of relief.

"Oo! All right," he said, almost gladly. "I'll letcher know when it's ready."

And he hopped out. I yawned, opened the concordance and shut it again hastily, by reason of the extraordinary pungent mustiness its pages emitted. Then I went prospecting into the passage between the stairs and the private bar. Here I passed a sort of ticket office window, at which a middle aged lady sat, eating winkles from a plate with the aid of a hairpin. Her face lighted up with sudden interest as she saw me.

"Oo!" she cried with spirit. "Er you the genelman as ordud er bawth?"

Again I pleaded guilty, and with a broad, reassuring smile, as of one who should say, "Bless you, we've had visitors just as mad as you before this," she nodded her ringleted head and said: "Right you are, sir. I'll send Boots to letcher know when it's ready."

Apart from consideration of her occupation, which demanded privacy, I could not stand gazing at this lady, and so I passed on to my only refuge from the concordance room—the private bar. There was a really splendid young lady in attendance here, who smiled upon me so sweetly that I felt constrained to order a lemon squash. While I pondered, with one hand on the counter, the still smiling barmaid opened conversation brightly.

"Er you the genelman what's ordud er bawth?" she asked engagingly.

I began to feel that there must be some kind of London joke about this formula. Perhaps it is a phrase in the current comic opera, I thought. As I hung indeliberately waiting I heard a voice in the passage outside and recognized it as belonging to that elderly bird, Boots.

"No; I ain't a-wastin' uv me time," it said. "I'm a-lookin' fer some one. I s'pose you ain't seed the genelman as ordud er bawth anywhere abart, 'ave yer?"

Fearful lest further delay should lead to the bricking up of the bathroom or to a crier's being sent round the town for the "genelman" and so forth, I hastened out almost into the arms of the retainer and forcibly checked him as he began on an interrogative note to cheer out, "You the genelman as ordud er—"

Coming from a country where, even in the poorest workman's house, the bathroom at all events is always in commission, I was especially struck by this incident, more especially when an hour later I heard the chambermaid cry out over the banisters:

"Mibel! The genelman as ordud er bawth sez 'e'll 'ave a chop wiv 'is tea!"

"No, don't do that, sir; I can't get a bawth all in a minute," she told me. "Perhaps you'd like to write in the smokin' room."

The opening performance will be in Montreal October 9. After a short tour in Eastern Canada she will go to the Knickerbocker theatre in New York. Her complete repertoire follows:

The Hot Blast Air-Tight FLORENCE

Beware of imitations and unscrupulous people who claim to have a stove like or just as good as the FLORENCE. Do not be deceived by such false claims and find it out when too late. Examine the Florence carefully before you buy.

At the end of the season's use with soft coal there will be no soot in the pipe or flue.

The Only Absolute Smoke Consuming Stove on Earth.

Everything is Consumed

The only jointless leg bottom and base with full radiation and large ash pan that is on the market or has ever been made in the history of the stove industry.

The jointless leg bottom and base makes the stove air-tight below the grate, which is the only true fire keeping principle.

It will be as good a fire keeper twenty years hence as it is today. The Hot Blast Air-Tight Florence will heat twice the space that can be heated by any other stove on earth at one-half the cost.

The only perfect floor heater that is or has ever been made.

All features are patented and no stove manufacturer, dealer or user can copy or use same until the expiration of the patent without incurring liability for an action for damages.

If the FLORENCE is operated according to directions:—

The No. 153 will heat from 3 to 5 ordinary rooms all winter with 4 tons of slack or lump coal.

The No. 155 will heat from 4 to 6 ordinary rooms all winter with 6 tons of slack or lump coal.

THE HOT BLAST AIR-TIGHT FLORENCE burns soft coal or slack and all the smoke and gases. No filling up of the stove, pipe or flue with soot. It will produce one-half less ashes than any other stove on earth with any kind of fuel and leave no clinkers or half consumed fuel.

GRAND JURY TO MEET NEXT WEEK

Called by Judge Sparks Today and Will Likely Investigate the Perry Shooting

ALSO HOMER KELLAM'S DEATH

Case Involving Campbell Estate May go to Jury Monday—Paying Cases Settled

Judge Sparks, at the request of Albert Stevens, prosecuting attorney, has ordered the grand jury to report next Wednesday. This will be the first meeting of the grand jury during the present term of court. Several rather important matters will be investigated by the grand jury.

One of the cases to be investigated is the shooting of George Perry by George W. Clingman. Clingman shot and killed Perry when he is alleged to have mistaken a party of fishermen for robbers. Clingman is now on bond on a murder charge, but the grand jury will investigate the merits of the case.

Another case that will likely be given consideration is that involving the death of Homer Kellam. Kellam was found dead in the barn at his home near Raleigh and death was believed to have been caused by being kicked by a horse. Some of Kellam's relatives are not satisfied with this and have asked the prosecutor to investigate.

Evidence in the Campbell-Carroll case was completed shortly before noon today and court adjourned until Monday morning at which time the closing arguments will start. The court did not like to start the arguments this afternoon as the case could not possibly go to the jury before five-thirty o'clock and he did not like to keep the jury out tonight.

The defense completed its side of the case this morning and after a short rebuttal all of the evidence was before the jury. The Campbell side of the case introduced several of the brothers of the late Ovid Campbell, whose estate is involved in the case.

The litigation growing out of the paving of West Second street last year by the city council ended this morning when Judge Sparks overruled a motion for a new trial in the case against Hyman Schatz and found for the plaintiffs, Estes V. Bergen and Edward E. Jeffrey, and the other suits were dismissed and the costs paid.

Several of the property owners in the street refused to pay the assessments and the Bergen company filed suit to collect the assessments. The case against Schatz was tried and it was generally understood that on the outcome of this case depended what would be done with the others. Judge Sparks found for the plaintiff against Schatz in the sum of $102.83 when the case was tried and then this morning overruled the motion for a new trial.

It is understood that the reason the other suits were dismissed is because the property owners paid the amounts of the assessments. The suits remaining on the docket, that were dismissed this morning, were against William E. and Clara Wallace, Clarissa Goddard, Athalia Lewark and William Lewark and George Muire and Ella Muire.

BATTERY B. MUSTERED OUT

The local members of Battery B. have arrived home having been mustered out at Fort Benjamin Harrison Thursday. All of the boys are in good health. Those from here who were on the border were Allan H. Blackledge, Fred Beale, Hale Pearson, Walter Gartin and Frank Owens.

TAKES UP DEED TO TRACT

National Serum Co., Pays Balance on Site For New Building

The National Serum company yesterday took up the deed for seventy acres of land just south of Jersey City and are preparing to begin work on their new building immediately. Morris Winship of this city has the contract. They paid J. D. Case and Joe Cowing $200 an acre for the land. They have had an option on the tract for several months and had made an advance payment of $5,000 on the $14,000 to show their good faith. The new company is expected to be a big improvement to Rushville.

MERCURY DROPS BELOW FREEZING

Heavy Freeze is Reported From all Parts of County but Little Damage is Done

ICE FOUND HALF-INCH THICK

In addition to a heavy frost last night, there was a heavy freeze. It was the coldest night of the fall season by three degrees over the best previous mark. The government thermometer at Manzy registered 27 degrees. Many people noticed ice early this morning and with a temperature of 27 at an early hour there was little doubt as to the approach of winter.

The freeze is reported to have done little damage. The corn is far enough along to have been out of danger. Some late gardens were damaged, but as these are few the loss will not be great. The ice at some places was reported to be at least a half-inch thick.

LITTLE BALOWIN BOY IS LOCATED

Is Kept in Rushville Home Thursday Night and Found at Livery Stable Today

ATTENTION CALLED TO CASE

William Baldwin, the 10 years old boy who disappeared from home Thursday night, was found this morning at a local livery stable. The boy has been wandering about the city. Last night he appeared at the home of James E. Watson in North Main street. Mrs. Watson recalled that he was wanted and called the police, but the boy ran from the house when he heard her calling over the phone.

On Thursday night the boy was found about midnight by Jess Pugh and taken to his house where he spent the night. The case of the Baldwin boy is rather pathetic. He is a feeble-minded youth and is not permitted to attend school. The attention of the case has been called to the officers and some disposition will likely be made soon.

MILK THIEVES ACTIVE

Residents of North Harrison street, especially those between Fourth and Fifth streets have been having considerable trouble lately with some boys who steal milk from the front verandas. At least one of the boys is known and if the practice is not stopped the people promise some arrests. Last night every bottle of milk delivered on one side of this street for a distance of half square was taken.

A marriage license was issued this morning to William E. Ray and Letha D. Wilder.

ONE WEEK UNTIL THE CENTENNIAL

Committees are Gradually Bringing Their Plans to a Focus in Preparation for Event

ODD FELLOWS IN THE PARADE

Program Committee Invites Several Distinguished Former Residents to be Here Oct. 12

Preparations for the Centennial, Fall Festival and Home Coming here which opens a week from next Tuesday, are gradually being brought to a focus and the executive committee is drawing in the lines to see if each committee has attended to the duties that it had to look after.

Early next week the decorative arches will give silent welcome to every person who enters Rushville's gates and will urge them to come back the week of the ninth to enjoy the festivities.

The program committee is making an effort to get some former Rush county citizens, who have made a success away from here, back to Rushville for Home Coming day, which will be celebrated Thursday, October 12. So far definite reply has been received from only one—George Gifford, an attorney from Tipton.

A letter has been written to Granville Cowing, the venerable old man of Muncie who was associated with the early activities of Rushville, but it is feared that he may not be able to come on account of his extreme age. He is an uncle of Joe Cowing of this city and has visited here a few times in late years. Mr. Cowing purchased The Whig, together with Norvell W. Cox, in 1846 and changed the name to The True Republican. That newspaper in 1854 became The Republican.

The program committee has just learned that the Rev. William Arnold, a native of Walker township and has written to Bluffton, Ind., where he is the pastor of the M. E. church, inviting him to be present on Home Coming day. He was a son of the late James Arnold, a pioneer teacher in Walker township.

The committee is endeavoring to have F. M. Springer of Indianapolis pay his old home a visit on that day. Mr. Springer was born and reared in Orange township. He was at one time surveyor of Rush county, but in later years was graduated from Michigan University and has become a prosperous lawyer. F. M. Wilsey, former prosecutor of Marion county, who is a native of Rush county, has also been invited.

If all the lodges do as well as the Odd Fellows plan to do, the fraternal orders of the city will be well represented in the Centennial parade Friday, Oct. 13. The Rebekahs and the subordinate lodge will each have a float and the crack degree of Franklin lodge, in full dress, together with the Odd Fellows band, will appear in the parade. The Odd Fellows will erect a rest room thirty feet long near the entrance to their lodge rooms in Second street and after the parade the band will give a concert there.

The concessions committee has the best array of free attractions that was ever offered at any fall event here, it is believed. The committee has just booked Alexander Brothers and company, an organization of four people who do two different acts. The four engage in a tight wire act, riding bicycles and doing other stunts. Two members of the company have a comedy program that is exceptionally good. Besides that the committee has already engaged a knock-down house comedy act and the one which will appear with the Ziedman and Polle combined shows that will be here for the week.

REGISTRATION IS TIMELY TOPIC

Political Managers are Urging Upon Voters Necessity of Seeing if They are Registered

TO WIN OR LOSE ELECTION

Only the Man Who Registered and Voted in 1914 and Hasn't Moved Can Vote This Time

As the day for the registration of voters draws near there is a fear among party organization managers that many voters in Indiana will neglect to see to it that they are properly registered and thus lose their right to vote at the November election.

Unless a voter is properly registered he cannot vote at the election. This is the principal point that every voter should keep in mind. Therefore, it is the duty of every voter to look out for his registration.

If a voter registered in 1914 and if he voted at the 1914 election, he is not required to register again this year, provided he still lives in the same precinct in which he lived and voted in 1914.

But if a voter who has registered in 1914 and voted in 1914 has since moved to another precinct he must register this year in his new precinct or he cannot vote at the November election.

October 9th is the registration day this year, and any voter who is not properly registered after that date will be barred from voting at the election. The only way a voter can protect himself and insure his right to vote will be to see that he is registered.

There will be a registration board in each precinct of the state on October 9th, so that there will be no excuse for any voter who fails to look after his registration. In a majority of the precincts in the state there will be only a partial registration on that day, while in others there will be a full and complete registration of all voters of the precinct. Any voter who does not understand whether he must register should investigate at once and ascertain where he stands. He can get the information from the precinct committeeman of his party or from the county committee, or at the County Auditor's office.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS AT BATTLE CREEK

Crowd Estimated at 60,000 Lines Streets and Surges About Depot When he Arrives

OLD-FASHIONED BARBECUE

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 30.—Col. Roosevelt came to Battle Creek today to inject some ginger into the presidential campaign. He said so himself. He is to speak late this afternoon at an old-fashioned barbecue under the auspices of the five surrounding counties.

When the train pulled into Battle Creek an hour late, it looked like a good part of the people of the five counties were on hand to give the ex-president an old-time welcome. There were fully 30,000 at the depot and 30,000 more along the route of the parade that was held.

Brooklyn, Sept. 30.—Philadelphia jumped into first place in the race for the National League pennant when they beat Brooklyn 7 to 2 in the morning game today.

GOING TO COUNTY MEETING

Odd Fellows Will Participate in Knightstown Event Next Week

Members of Franklin lodge No. 35, I. O. O. F., will go to Knightstown a week from tonight to take an active part in the Henry county meeting of Odd Fellows. Twenty-five automobiles will be needed to take the crowd and seventeen have been promised. The crack degree team will parade in degree uniforms on Rushville streets, headed by the band, before leaving for Knightstown. They will also make a parade in Knightstown. The team from here will give the third degree.

GOVERNOR OF OHIO HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

Mrs. Frank B. Willis and Daughter Also are Injured When Taxi Hits Street Car

WILLIS MAY HAVE FRACTURE

(By United Press.) Delaware, O., Sept. 30.—Governor Frank B. Willis, his wife and daughter were injured here early this morning in an auto accident. While none of their injuries will prove fatal, physicians said, Mrs. Willis and Helen Willis, age eighteen are seriously hurt.

The governor, his wife and daughter were thrown out of a taxicab when it crashed into a street car and a truck. Governor Willis suffered a cut in the side and a sprained wrist which doctors say may be fractured.

HUGHES FINISHES 20,000-MILE TRIP

Republican Nominee Establishes a Record for Presidential Candidates in Campaign

FATIGUE SHOWS IN HIS FACE

(By United Press.) Hornell, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Republican Nominee Hughes today finished his 20,000th mile as a twentieth century campaigner today. This is said to establish a record for presidential candidates.

It was estimated today that Hughes has talked to 1,500,000 voters since he started seeking votes August 5.

After such a record breaking campaign, not yet concluded, it was no wonder today that the Republican nominee showed fatigue in every line of his face. His eyes were ringed with dark circles and his voice was almost cracked under the strain.

WORRIED ABOUT HIS CROPS

Bloomington Farmer Worth $300,000 Commits Suicide Today

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 30.—Worry because his crops were not harvested caused Reddie A. Wylie, reputed to be the wealthiest farmer of Monroe county, to kill himself by shooting today. Wylie is said to be worth about $300,000. He was the grandson of Andrew Wylie, Indiana University's first president. In a recent Centennial pageant at Indiana University he took the part of his grandfather.

Gladys, the two-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Gardner of Walker township, is critically ill.

DRINK FROM OLD WELL IS FATAL

Virginia McCullough, 8, of Indianapolis, is Dead and Brother and 2 Sisters Ill With Typhoid

FATHER IS ALSO STRICKEN

Family Visited Forefather's Cabin in This County July 4 and all but Mother are Afflicted

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—A happy family party July Fourth, when John S. McCullough, 2912 Boulevard place, with his wife his three little daughters, his young son and a chauffeur drove to Milroy, Ind., for a visit to the ancient log cabin that was the birthplace of Mr. McCullough's great-great-grandfather, has had a tragic sequel that may not yet be finished.

Virginia McCullough, 8 years old, is dead of typhoid fever. At St. Vincent's Hospital, where the little girl breathed her last yesterday morning, after weeks of suffering is the father, in the grip of the same disease. At the McCullough home on Boulevard Place—the home where a wreath of white roses on the door tells the story of a child's passing—lie three other children, Constance Mary, 4 years old; Dorothy, 12 years old, and John Clemens McCullough, 15 years old, all stricken with typhoid fever. Of the entire family, Mrs. McCullough, who spends her time hastening from the bedside of her husband at the hospital to those of her three children at her home, is the only one who is not ill.

The McCullough cabin, where Jacob S. McCullough was born nearly a century ago, is one of the quaint relics of the town of Milroy. It is a log cabin of ancient design, back of which is a rock-walled well as ancient as the cabin itself, and fitted with an old wooden pump. This was the destination of the McCullough family on that July Fourth outing. When they arrived there after the long drive, they were thirsty and drank deep of the water from the well—all but Mrs. McCullough and the chauffeur. The water seemed bright and sparkling, but death in the form of typhoid lurked in its depths.

Shortly after their return to Indianapolis Mr. McCullough and the children were taken ill. Little Virginia made a gallant fight for life and every possible effort was made to save her. Seven ounces of blood from her uncle, Andrew McCullough, was tried along with artificial feeding. Before her death the child had suffered almost complete paralysis and when pneumonia set in it was necessary to insert a tube into her left lung. The shock was too much for the little girl and her death followed. Sisters of St. Vincent's Hospital have a record of beautiful prayers the child said after she was taken there, when she would pray ardently for the recovery of her father, sisters and brothers.

Pending the outcome of the illness of Mr. McCullough, who is manager of the National Casket Company, the body of the little girl will be placed in a vault in Crown Hill Cemetery.

No one could be found today who knows of an old log cabin in or near Milroy. Allen R. Holden, county auditor, believes that John S. McCullough is the same Mr. McCullough he used to know and at one time lived in Noble township. Mr. Holden says there is an old log cabin on the McCullough farm in Noble township. A. M. Taylor, clerk of the court, who lived in Milroy a number of years, says he knows of no ancient log cabin in the vicinity of Milroy.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and lousy the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Hughes and Wilson on Labor.

While Mr. Wilson, as president of Princeton University, was carrying favor with Wall Street by denouncing labor leaders and labor unions as "formidable enemies," Governor Hughes at Albany was winning well-deserved ecumiums from organized labor in appreciation of his service to the cause of labor. During those days when Mr. Wilson was lamenting the use of labor organizations, Governor Hughes was encouraging their growth and commending their constructive work. Eight years ago at the dedication of the tuberculosis pavilion, erected by the Central Federation of Labor at Albany, Governor Hughes said: "My friends there are some who regard organized labor as a source of strife and means of difficulty. I regard it as a fine opportunity for the amelioration of the condition of men working with this other purpose than to make the most of themselves and to achieve something for their families. I regard it as a fine opportunity for the realization of the highest benefits for these that every patriotic citizen feels most solicitous about to see that everything should be done for their continued progress. Under wise leadership, with statesman-like guidance, with a firm intention to promote the benefits of the community and to secure honorable progress, the mission of labor organizations is one of the finest that any association of men could guard."

The record shows that Mr. Hughes reversed the cause of labor and spoke in favor of its organization while he was Governor of New York. What he said eight years ago on that subject he is saying today. He proved his friendship for labor as Governor, and he will prove it again as President. The difference between Mr. Hughes and Mr. Wilson in respect of labor is easily discerned and defined—"Hughes means what he says."

A NECESSITY

Mrs. Collier Says Could Not Keep House Without Black-Draught.

Hardin, Mo.—Mrs. J. W. Collier, of this town, who knows from experience of the merit of Black-Draught Liver Medicine, has following to say for publication: "I want to let everybody know that I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for many years, and it is just what is claimed for it. I am never without Black-Draught, and really I couldn't keep house without it. Whenever I feel bad, I take a small dose, and feel better right away. I advise everybody who suffers from liver or stomach trouble to use Black-Draught Liver Medicine." For three-quarters of a century (75 years), Theodor's Black-Draught has been regulating irregularities of the liver, stomach and bowels, and has long been recognized as the standard remedy. DECLINED TO PERMIT A SQUADRON TO DEFEND AMERICANS.

At Tampico there was a general movement of attack by the Mexicans on Americans and other foreigners. We had a squadron of American warships in the neighborhood. The Wilson Administration declined to permit this squadron to be used to defend the lives of American men and the honor of American women, and the commanders of the German and English ships at Tampico had to step in and perform the task our representative had so basely abandoned. At the very time that the Mexican mob had surrounded the building in which the Americans had taken refuge and was howling for their blood, the American fleet, in spite of the protests of the American naval commander, and in accordance with wireless orders from Washington, was forced to steam out of the harbor and leave the Americans to be massacred by the Mexicans or rescued by the Germans and English.—From the Speech of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

POLITICAL JOTTINGS

If plans "to get Villa" are abandoned Villa should reciprocate and refrain from organizing expeditions "to get" American citizens.

The fact that Mr. Wilson could endorse this Pork Congress shows that he isn't seasick, anyway.

Mr. Pinchot also seems of the opinion that God Hates a Quitter.

The man who quotes the Baltimore platform is regarded as a political archeologist.

"He kept the country out of war," but he robbed it of its peace.

Up in Maine they are now rhyming Hughes with Moose. And there is reason as well as rhyme connecting the two words.

"Victory," Mr. Fairbanks told Oklahoma Republicans, "surely will perch on our banner." But Champ Clark tied it up in a neater and more compact bundle when he said: "They licked hell out of us."

Members of President Wilson's cabinet are ready to do anything to re-elect their chief, except resign.

Writes a former Princeton man: "At first we called him 'W. W.'; then we made it 'I. W. W.'"

That one term plank in the Democratic platform of 1912—it is more than likely to hold, after all.

When President Wilson called upon the Mexican commissioners, at New London he revived old precedents, but did he wave the Stars and Stripes?

A man in Washington has made a bust of the President, thus anticipating Mr. Hughes by several weeks.

Discussing the endorsement by the Democratic convention of Texas of Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy, the Houston Post (Dem.) flatly declares: "It is not believed anything like a majority of the people of Texas endorse our Mexican policy, and those in a position to know seriously doubt that the platform adopted expressed the real sentiments of the convention itself."

The Omaha Bee couples woeful waste with watchful waiting as a Democratic failing.

Boiled down, the best that has been said of President Wilson's Mexican policy was that he had good intentions. We've often heard of a road paved with this kind of material.

The President is deceived if he believes that the history he has written is not more praiseworthy than that which he has made.

President Wilson signed the Philippine bill as moving picture cameras clicked. There is one man who is not afraid to have his mistakes recorded!

WILSON CONSISTENT ONLY IN HIS VACILLATION.

As it is with "war," so it is with "intervention." President Wilson has again and again said he would not "intervene" in Mexico. As a matter of fact he has intervened continuously but as he never followed any policy of either intervention or non-intervention with any resolution—always yielding at the critical moment to some bandit chief of whom he became fearful—both his spasms of intervention and his spasms of non-intervention have alike been entirely futile.—From the Speech of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

FINNEGAN'S PHILOSOPHY.

On The Merry-Go-Round.

"Faith an' now Wilson's for protection. Four year ago he was agin it, for it was agin the constychoosun. Now that he is for it, that immortal instrument has also changed its mind. He makes me head shwin."

"But I've good company. Bryan an' Garrison, the civil service Dimyercats, and the rale Dimyercats, the Passylists an' the vulgar sows that's none 'Too Proud to Fight'—they've all been on the Merry-go-round. Some iv thim turned sick."

"God bless ye—ye're a good man, but ye make me dizzy," says Bryan, leppin' from the Hobby-Horse and runnin' for the woods. "I've a ginywine raygrit at losin' ye," says Wudthrow throwin' him a Cocked-Hat iv the vintage of 1909.

"Here's the Army bill," says Garrison. "How does it suit?" he axes.

"Fine," says Wudthrow, "barrin' a few changes. 'Ye'll redraw it,' he says, 'to provide,' says he, 'voluntary universal service in a Federal Military,' says he, 'controlled by the states,' says he, 'an recruited by spiritual compulsion,' says he. 'It shud be nayther too large nor too small,' says he, 'or maybe both,' he says, 'an the ammunition,' says he, 'must be nayther too much, nor too little,' says he. 'I've to see Hay, before I decide the daytales, for 'tis me 'ooty to kape an open mind,' says Wudthrow.

"Stop the music and lave me off," says Garrison. "Are ye crazy or am I? Garrison moans, layin' on his back an gazin' wildly at th' sky. 'God bless ye,' says Wudthrow. 'I've a near-real raygrit at losin' you,' he says. And as Garrison beats it to Jarsey the Merry-go-Round plays a side step.

"'F'what iv the Navy," says Kitchin. "It shud be thur'y adequate ivrywhere," says the Great Daylist, "except in Montany, where we need no Navy," says he, "and in St. Louey, where it shud be the biggest in the world. We'll be none extravragant like thim Raypublicans," says he, "so here's the Dimyercat bill ye'll pass," says he.

"But this same is the Raypublican's bill," says Kitchin starin'. "Ye'll go an' pass it," says Wudthrow, poundin' the desk. "Hooray," says the black Raypublicans rotin' for the bill. "Do I dream," says Kitchin. "If I iver drank, I'd t'ink I was boozed," says Kitchin in a thremblin' vice. And he falls off.

"How about the Army bill," axes Hay.

"Through an' instant preparation for defense must be the wurd," says Wudthrow, wid heroic ris'tution in his eye.

"I have here a bill," says Hay, 'providin' for an increase iv five hundthder men a year for twenty year,' he says; 'an' amynishun for six hours' acksun,' he says; 'twill make us 'safe from maddygasker, measles, muckrakin', milit-rism and marital infidelity,' he says, 'an' we'll catch Villy before he dies av he doant die before we catch him,' says Hay.

"Embrace me," says Wilson. "Oh Hay—after all preparedness is a matter iv the heart an' not of guns or forts. Did Cleveland ivr give ye a job?" he axes, stoppin' short like.

"Divil a wan," says Hay. "Thin' says Wudthrow shakin' the both iv Hay's hands cordial like, 'for yer patriotic service in so bravely sipportin' me policies,' he says, 'in all their phrases,' he says; 'I make a judge iv ye,' he says, 'as well as yer frind that ye put in the Joker,' says the President. 'Howly Saints,' says the preparation Smilers.

"Ph-what does this mean at all at all?" they axes. "I've the wan thrack mind," says the President, 'an' ye go all through me train iv thought before ye come to the pork car,' says he. "Are ye on?" axes the Apostle iv Common Counsels.

"We're on," says the Smilers, fallin' off. An' the Merry-go-round plays a Wilson Waltz (which ye know, Jawn, is wan step forward, two steps back, hesitate and sidestep). An' Tamulty goes out to spread the glad tidin's that the preparation 'prade will be led by the President in person.

"How does he save his face?" asked Malumphy.

"Wid his mouth," responded Finne-

gan dryly.

ONE YEAR AGO THE 3400 r.p.m. CHALMERS CAME INTO BEING; NOW 50,000,000 HAPPY MILES LIE BEHIND IT

Just one year ago the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers was born.

September 30th is its Anniversary Day.

It was untried, unknown, looked a little strange because it was different, and nobody outside of four men knew what it could do.

These four men—the men who had dreamed the car—had little to say.

"What will it do?" they were asked.

"Get in and try," they replied.

And in three days' time every last Chalmers executive had experienced a thrill that was new behind the wheel.

They banged it around in city traffic, abused it on hills, ran it through broken fields, made it take hurdles they would never ask their own personal cars to take.

They were amazed and then they sat down and decided to build three times as many of these cars as they had ever built of any model in a single year before—$22,000,000 worth.

Then behold the situation. Six months later these 18,000 cars were all built. Then 10,000 more were ordered.

And a few days ago we got word that 20,000 more are being built—48,000 of these 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers.

48,000 in all—a $56,000,000 business in a single model!

So you see why we are proud to have a birthday party for the car.

Any car that has 50,000,000 happy miles of use behind it certainly has an interesting history and its birthday anniversary is an event.

Remember this is only its first birthday. So successful has the car proven that the Chalmers Company is continuing to build it right through into next year. So you're safe in getting a car now that won't be obsolete in the spring.

Consider the price, $1090 Detroit.

Come in today. Attend the birthday party.

32 STARTERS IN ASTOR CUP RACE

Crowning Event of Season is Run Today at Sheepshead Bay Speedway Track.

$25,000 IN PRIZES OFFERED

Interest in Event Centers in Resta, DePalma and Johnny Aitken of Indianapolis.

BY HAMILTON.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Sept. 30.—Thirty-two of the most daring drivers in the automobile racing game, driving the fastest racing cars on the American continent, were to face the starter this afternoon in the Sheepshead Bay Speedway classic of the year, the 250 mile Astor Cup race.

The men and cars will race for $25,000 to go to the first ten to finish. The prizes are: first $10,000; second $5,000; third, $2,500; fourth, $1,600; fifth $1,300; sixth, $1,200; seventh, $1,000; eighth, $900; ninth, $800 and tenth $700.

The men who will face the starter qualified by hurtling around the Sheepshead bowl at not less than ninety miles an hour. Most of the trials were held Thursday.

The track is in perfect shape. Workmen have been over every square inch of it smoothing down the slightest irregularities. Speed bugs are looking forward to a smashing of records.

Interest in the drivers centers on Dario Resta, speed king for the year to date, Ralph De Palma, Johnny Aitken, Eddie Rickenbacker and Eddie Pullen. It will be the crowning event of the season and to the winner will go the title "The Speed King."

AT THE MAUZY HOME

Another beautiful party was given at the Mauzy home in North Harrison street last evening, when honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. Louis Mauzy, a reception was tendered by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy and Mrs. Mary Dixon. The same dainty color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the decorations last evening. The mantles were banked with ferns and begonias and tall vases and baskets of pink rose buds graced each of the rooms. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mauzy, Mrs. Mary Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. George Dehority of Elwood. The bride looked lovely in a peach-colored silk gown, with a full over-swirl, beneath it being a gold lace drop, and the upper part of the dress fashioned from maline. She wore pink roses.

The guests, numbering over a hundred, were seated in the four spacious rooms, to hear the delightful program given by Miss Cecil Hill, Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Nelson of Indianapolis. Miss Hill's selections were excellent as she sang with her clear soprano voice. Too, she gave a very clever reading. Mr. Hawkins played a number of beautiful violin selections, and Mr. Nelson, the accompanist, played several well chosen piano solos. Following this program, Jess Pugh and Floyd Chaffee of Indianapolis, who was also a guest and who is to travel with Mr. Pugh this winter, gave several very clever "stunts." Mr. Chaffee sang, Mr. Pugh read and for "The Moving Picture Show" and the parody on "A Little Bit of Heaven," they were encored again and again.

The refreshments carried out in the ices and confections the predominating color scheme.

Among the guests who enjoyed the hospitality of the hosts and hostesses extended through this beautiful party were Mrs. Christina Mauzy, Mrs. St. Clair Parry, Mrs. H. T. Parry of Indianapolis, Miss Louise Craig, Mr. and Mrs. George Dehority of Elwood, Floyd Chaffee and Ward Hackleman of Indianapolis, Mrs. George Becker and Miss Frances Fryar of Richmond.

Preceding the reception, an elaborate dinner party was given. The fifty guests were seated at small tables. The dining table where Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mauzy were seated, was beneath streamers of white tulle draped to the four corners of the table and embellished with a basket of pink rose buds. Hand-painted place cards, bearing the heads of girls, marked the places for the guests. A two-course dinner, carrying out the same color scheme, was served.

STATE PAGEANT OPENS MONDAY

Stage is Set For the Most Spectacular Event in History of Indiana

GREAT ATTENTION TO DETAIL

Stage Effects and Scenic Equipment Particularly Realistic—Primitive Implements

Indianapolis, Sept. 30.—The stage is set, the great cast of 3,000 performers is ready for entrance, and exit in the greatest spectacular event in the history of Indiana—the centennial pageant to open at Riverside park at 4 o'clock next Monday afternoon, Oct. 2.

As the hour of opening draws close, the magnitude of the great historical-drama looms larger and larger to those who have been working night and day to make it a feature of the centenary celebration in which every Hoosier may feel proud. All this week rehearsals of the big cast have crowded each day and night to overflowing.

The large grand-stand, to seat about 7,000 people, lacks only the finishing touches to make it complete. The sale of tickets which has been on all week at the office of the Merchants Heat and Light Company indicates that not only Indianapolis but practically every locality in Indiana has an absorbing interest in the spectacle. Mail orders are received daily from all parts of the state. William Chauncey Langdon, pageant-director, pronounces the preparations for the production the most complete he has ever known.

Mrs. Marion Langdon, director of costumes, is working her force of dress-makers to the point of distraction in order that each garment worn in the pageant may correspond in every detail to the period it is to represent. From the days of Robert Caveller de LaSalle down to the last episode in the pageant, not one detail of the personality of those distinguished characters that come and go in the dramatic-picture is to be overlooked. The pageant will show the Indian of today precisely what his earliest ancestors were, how they dressed, how they looked and what they did.

In this great out-door drama the scenic effects and stage equipment are to be particularly realistic. Harry Porter, assistant pageant-master, has drawn on the state for its choicest treasures of pioneer relics and primitive implements. Probably few metropolitan productions have been staged with more attention to detail.

The pageant will open promptly each afternoon of next week Oct. 2-7, at 4 o'clock. For two hours and a half each day the spectator may revel in the deeds and words of the men and women who laid the foundations and built a great Hoosier state. The pageant committee is planning a parking place for automobiles so that those who motor to the city may leave their cars in safe custody.

Pennsylvania Train is Derailed at King's Mill, O., Today

(By United Press.)

Cincinnati, Sept. 30.—Two persons were killed and eight were injured today when a Pennsylvania train enroute to Cincinnati from New York was derailed at King's Mill, O.

The train which consisted of two engines and ten passenger cars, was on its way to Cincinnati when a side-rod on one engine broke. Both engines and five cars were thrown from the track. About 1,500 feet of track was torn up.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 30.—Cooper Props, automobile dealer and former newspaperman, former farmer, and former real estate dealer, ordered that the roof on a new garage be made flat to be used as a landing place for aeroplanes, when automobiles are merely a memory.

WAYNE NEEDS MORE ATTENTION

This Conclusion "Brother" George Gray Has Reached, According to Richmond Authorities

WHAT STRAW VOTE REVEALS

Free Seeds Fail to Placate Several Hundred Voters who Opposed "Pork Barrel" Legislation

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 30.—"Brother" George Gray has decided that "Brother" Finly Gray must devote much time and attention to Wayne county if he entertains any hope of retaining the $7,500 a year job he now holds in the capacity of representing the sixth Indiana district in the national house of representatives.

In the first place "Brother" George is considerably perturbed as to the action about 5,000 Wayne county voters, formerly affiliated with the Progressive party, will pursue on November 7. He realizes that these 5,000 citizens will just about decide whether "Brother Fin" retains or loses his $7,500 job. Results of straw ballots recently taken in Richmond by a Cincinnati newspaper have convinced the members of the Democratic office-holding firm of Gray & Gray, Connorsville, Ind., that a lot of business will have to be transacted by them in Wayne county during the next six weeks. "Brother" Finly's government seed distribution policy has proved most disappointingly ineffective.

It seems that these seeds have failed to placate several hundred Wayne county voters who are still demanding of Finly what authority he had to champion enthusiastically the "pork barrel" and anti-civil service measures while attempting to knife all the "preparedness" bills.

It is also a fact that Rep. Gray's various explanations of his meddling with the rural mail delivery service in Wayne county, last winter, never made much of an impression on the farmers. Another condition existing in Wayne county which is a source of worry to the Gray brothers is the lack of interest John M. Lantz of Richmond and his many Democratic friends are showing in the Democratic campaign—especially financial interest. Associates of Mr. Lantz are still imbittered over the knife he received in the primary campaign last March. Hitherto Mr. Lantz has always been the biggest contributor in the sixth district to the Democratic campaign fund.

MURDER IS CHARGED

Mountain View, N. H., Sept. 30.—A charge of first degree murder was placed against Frederick L. Small today. The body of Small's wife was found in the ruins of their home after it had been burned. Small is the beneficiary under a $20,000 life insurance policy taken out by himself and his wife recently.

London, Sept. 30.—British troops improved their positions north of Thiepval and beat off German counter attacks last night, General Haig reported this afternoon.

PAGEANT-DRAMA OF HOOSIER HISTORY

Wonderful Statehood Spectacle to Be Given by 3,000 People.

A great centennial pageant to be staged at Riverside, one of the finest of the Hoosier capital's chain of parks, in which 3,000 men, women and children will be cast in a dramatic picture showing the progress and development of Indiana for one hundred years, will be one of the outstanding features of the centenary jubilee at Indianapolis Oct. 2-15.

The pageant, which is to tell a thrilling story of the early sufferings and hardships and later triumphs of the men and women who have made a great state, will be given each afternoon of the first week of the celebration, beginning Oct. 2, at 4 p. m. each day, the spectacle drifting into the early twilight so that the spectators may enjoy some remarkably unique electric effects and illuminated tableaux.

dramatist, will not only be educational in its historical character, but will visualize the future possibilities of the state. There are to be ten episodes and five symbolic scenes dealing with the state's development from the first exploration of La Salle, the French trader, down to the present time.

All of these great events are to be depicted on a vast open-air stage by men and women faithfully costumed for the particular period in which they enter. The great Hoosier drama promises to present scene after scene calculated to thrill the blood of every loyal Indian.

Riverside park was selected because it is easily reached from the city and besides its picturesque situation offered admirable opportunity for outdoor drama. A grandstand will accommodate nearly 10,000 people. From the grandstand the spectator will have a fine sweep of the grassy stage with White river, skirted by woodland and the old canal beyond.

In the presentation of this great picture of Hoosier life people from all over the state have responded to the call for pioneer relics to aid in bringing realism into the pageant.

The hours for the pageant performances have been arranged so that visitors to the city may attend the spectacle and also other events of the centennial celebration.

The Hot Blast Air-Tight FLORENCE

Beware of imitations and unscrupulous people who claim to have a stove like or just as good as the FLORENCE. Do not be deceived by such false claims and find it out when too late.
Examine the Florence carefully before you buy.

At the end of the season's use with soft coal there will be no soot in the pipe or flue.

The Only Absolute Smoke Consuming Stove on Earth.
No Smoke! No Soot! No Dirt! No Clinkers!
Everything is Consumed

The only jointless leg bottom and base with full radiation and large ash pan that is on the market or has ever been made in the history of the stove industry.

The jointless leg bottom and base makes the stove air-tight below the grate, which is the only true fire keeping principle.

It will be as good a fire keeper twenty years hence as it is today.
The Hot Blast Air-Tight Florence will heat twice the space that can be heated by any other stove on earth at one-half the cost.

The only perfect floor heater that is or has ever been made.

All features are patented and no stove manufacturer, dealer or user can copy or use same until the expiration of the patent without incurring liability for an action for damages.

If the FLORENCE is operated according to directions:—

The No. 153 will heat from 3 to 5 ordinary rooms all winter with 4 tons of slack or lump coal.

The No. 155 will heat from 4 to 6 ordinary rooms all winter with 6 tons of slack or lump coal.

THE HOT BLAST AIR-TIGHT FLORENCE burns soft coal or slack and all the smoke and gases. No filling up of the stove, pipe or flue with soot. It will produce one-half less ashes than any other stove on earth with any kind of fuel and leave no clinkers or half consumed fuel.
